

David

The Life in the Castle Guttenberg

Today, David listens very attentively to his teacher. She talks about life in castles. David whispers to Michel that castles are the houses of knights. All castles are old and destroyed. Michel says, no, the castle Guttenberg in Neckarmühlbach is not destroyed. I was there yesterday and the teacher was there, too. The teacher reminds the boys to be quiet.

Michel is visiting the third grade. He is in Hassmersheim for a week on exchange. He sits next to David. His classmate is ill. Michel is from Chartres-de-Bretagne in France. That is the partner town of Hassmersheim. He already speaks German very well. But sometimes he needs help.

Where did the guest from France go to?

He went to the _ _ _ _ _ Guttenberg.
