

MARY

THE MARTIN SINGING

It's raining today. Mary was in school. She has already made her homework, and now she is looking for paper, cardboard, string, scissors, pens and glue. Mary is in a good mood. She is waiting for her girlfriend Lisa. The girls want to do handicrafts lanterns together. The girl is singing quietly. You hardly hear it:

I walk with my lantern,
and my lantern goes with me.
Up above the stars are shining,
and down here we are shining.
Lantern light, don't go out on me!
Rabimmel, rabammel, rabum.

I go with my lantern,
and my lantern goes with me.
Up above the stars are shining,

and down here we are shining.

My light is out,

I'm going home.

Rabimmel, rabammel, rabum.

For whom is Mary waiting?
